

Rochester Regional Library
Council
December 2011

Are you a local Health Professional that does not have free access to resources through an affiliation with a college, university or hospital? Are you a new graduate of an area college and no longer have access to your school's licensed databases? Consider using the online resources available through CLIC-on-Health.

With an award from the National Network of Libraries of Medicine, the Rochester Regional Library Council provides a gateway to free online health information for nurses and other health professionals and the training on how to use them.

We're All About Training

The Rochester Regional Library Council can provide training to groups on how best to use CLIC-on-Health. CLIC-on-Health has modules available on the website for COH training for seniors, and for health professionals. If you are interested in a presentation on CLIC-on-Health, or on how to use the resources available there, please contact Barbara Ciambor at 223-7570, or bciambor@rrlc.org.

CLIC-on-Health is a library and community health information collaborative, bringing together librarians and health organizations to ensure that the people of the greater Rochester area have access to high-quality health information that they need to make wise lifestyle and healthcare choices. CLIC-on-Health is a service of the Rochester Regional Library Council.

This project has been funded in whole or in part with Federal funds from the National Library of Medicine, National Institutes of Health, Department of Health and Human Services, under Contract No. N01-LM-6-3501 with the New York University School of Medicine.
